Reminder: Call for Nominations for The Mail and Guardian (M&G) Greening the Future Awards 2021

Do you know an individual or organisation worthy of recognition in the fight against climate change?

Now is your chance to nominate them for the Mail & Guardian Greening the Future Awards 2021.

The National Business Initiative (NBI) is delighted to share that we are partnering with the Mail & Guardian's prestigious flagship project Greening the Future Awards 2021.

Nominations can be submitted via the Mail & Guardian webform on their website and it only takes two minutes to complete. Nominations close on 8 October 2021.

In line with NBI's vision of building a South African society and economy that is inclusive, resilient, sustainable and based on trust, the NBI is very happy to endorse this year's Greening the Future awards. We have chosen to endorse the awards in support of innovation, best practice and transformation as well as the overall drive for a greener South African economy.

It is important to note that while we endorse the awards, the NBI is not a judge of the Greening the Future awards.

The NBI would like to encourage any of our partners, stakeholders, members or organisations in our networks who are doing important climate change and sustainability related work to enter the awards.

We wish everyone the best of luck.
