Moral Money Summit Africa

The National Business Initiative (NBI) is proud to announce our dynamic CEO, Shameela Soobramoney, will be speaking at the upcoming Moral Money Summit Africa.

Uncover the path to a sustainable future for Africa at the Moral Money Summit Africa! With estimates indicating a need for US$1.6tn this decade to fulfil the continent's Paris Agreement commitments, the question looms large: Where will this funding come from? Africa, bursting with potential, emits only a fraction of the carbon compared to developed nations, houses the world's fastest-growing population, and offers a promising carbon offset market. However, this unique landscape demands complex solutions and rapid action. Are key stakeholders stepping up to the plate?

Join us for a comprehensive one-day event where we explore how to accelerate sustainable growth across the region. Connect with policy makers, NGOs, thought-leaders, financiers, multilateral institutions, corporates, and investors to delve into what business, policy, and investment leaders must do NOW to fast-forward sustainable outcomes in energy production, agriculture, and human rights. Don't let this critical conversation pass you by!
